THE WEATHER.

HIGH TEMPERATURE IN THE COUNTRY.

A marked change occurred yesterday morning in the weather in Sydney, the wind suddenly shifting to the southwest about 4 a.m. The change was quite sudden, however, for the whole of the reports from the interior show that Sunday and Monday's high temperature was still being experienced yesterday. The highest appears to have been at 110° F., degreases 100° F., and 100° F. at Bourke, Mount Hope, 100° F.; Wagga, 105°; Hay, 104°; Brewarrina and Balranald, 103°; Mungindi, 104°; and several places 100°. Yesterday's early telegrams from inland were that the weather was fine and clear all over the colony, and generally calm. Similar statements were reported from the inland stations. It was in the day, but on the southward the wind blew as stated, from the southward. At Sydney some of the gusts reached a force of 30 miles per hour. It was very hot everywhere, and at the Observatory the wind force ranged between 15 and 25 miles per hour. The direction was between S. and S.W. From about 4 p.m. to 9 p.m. there was a great deal of thunder and lightning, however, and Miss Bain was acting the part of the good Samaritan. It appeared that during the height of the influenza epidemic here Mr. Hunt, chemist, was attacked with the prevailing malady, and was induced to send for Miss Bain, who became a victim of the sickness, and to her Dr. Cooper was called in. He prescribed an antiseptic known as "Bain's Balsam," which the medicine was administered without the drug, which remained as sediment at the bottom of the bottle. Next morning he was again taken ill, and in a ravaging fever, made inquiries and found why the medicine had taken no effect. He ordered it to be repeated, and in this way he was able to ascertain that it was the fever that was high. Instead, four doses were given every two hours, which the doctor said was according to the label on the bottle. The certificate of death given by Dr. Cooper was that the first case was due to an antiseptic received from him. Dr. Cooper was ordered to take the present proceeding. The Bench decided that, as there was no medical record, the cause of death could not be ascertained. The case against Miss Bain was withdrawn.

Mr. Wheeler, from Wellington, will represent the company in Mr. Jackson's absence.

BOWRAL, TUESDAY.

Influenza, which has never at any time been known to prevail here, seems to have almost completely died out here, and many Sydney convalescents are being recommended for change.

BURBWA, TUESDAY.

The weather is still fine. The wind is blowing from the west, and the influence of the monsoon is apparently diminishing. It has greatly interfered with sailing and local business.

MUMBER, TUESDAY.

Influenza has now assumed an endemic proportion here. Every business house is short-handed. The hospital staff is overworked. Nearly all the railway stations, banks, including the stonemasons, are affected.

A somewhat novel treatment of phthisis was exhibited at a recent meeting of the Academic Society of Medicine, at Berlin. The method of Dr. Germine's practice is as follows: By heating the solution of the disease, by which he considers he has practically cured 80 cases of the disease, the patient is required to drink the solution filled with compressed air containing the vapours of creosote mixed with camphor. The effect of this is that the entire pulmonary surface is thus absorbed by the entire pulmonary system, and it can be supported that the disease cannot be continued for any length of time. Dr. Seo, even in the most advanced cases of phthisis, has seen the appetite return and improvement of general symptoms.

"That Hole, E. Miller, W. Smith and Co., C. Bond, and Co., J. Davis and Co., David Bruce, and Perry and Core. The following letter was received from Mr. T. E. West:

"In the present movement, I am sure that the Amalgamated Tailors' Association of New South Wales being prepared to nominate members to meet you in a conference to consider the demands of the tailors' union, I hope you will be pleased to meet same with a like number if I agreeable, I will call conference to receive their report."

It was unanimously agreed, that the strike was to be discontinued, and the employers' strike was to be discontinued, and the tailors' strike was to be discontinued.
